Avangrid Renewables is a developer, generator, and marketer of electricity and related services. With more than 6,000 megawatts of owned or controlled assets, Avangrid Renewables is the third-largest generator of renewable electricity in the United States. Avangrid Renewables owns, controls the output of, and has a substantial development pipeline of wind and solar plants (“Resources”) located in Oregon and the Pacific Northwest and is certified by the Commission as an electricity service supplier (“ESS”).¹

Avangrid Renewables has a substantial and direct interest in this proceeding. The Commission’s investigation into resource adequacy could result in a broad set of potential issues and outcomes related to resource adequacy in Oregon and the Pacific Northwest. Such issues and outcomes will have a substantial and direct effect on the Resources, which could include potential rule changes and charges levied upon ESS entities and their customers.

Avangrid Renewables’ interest in the proceeding is not adequately represented by any other party. The company brings to the Commission a unique and experienced perspective that should assist the Commission in resolving the issues related to this proceeding.

Moreover, Avangrid Renewables believes intervenor status is appropriate as it intends to actively participate in the proceeding and raise issues pertinent to the proceeding. Intervention will not unreasonably broaden the issues, burden the record, or delay this proceeding.

Based on the information provided above, Avangrid Renewables respectfully requests that the Commission grant its petition to intervene with full party status in the above-captioned proceeding and to appear and participate in all matters as may be necessary and appropriate.

Dated this 29th day of January 2021.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Jimmy Hulett
