To Whom It May Concern,

Land taken through Eminent Domain must be the absolute last resort--the last step in any development project. What is wrong, by the way, in using current, existing utility right of ways for this project?

We Oregonians should not have to deal with extensive legal fees to defend our land and homes, when monopoly utilities have endless resources made possible by their unsuspecting rate payers. (Many of whom would be appalled at such corporate activity.)

Sincerely
