SUBSTITUTION FOR THE RICE
HILL OWNERS ASSOCIATION,
INC. AND WITHDRAWAL OF
ELLIS E. EMORY AND EMORY
COUNSEL

Ellie E. Emory, former President of the The Rice Hill Owners Association, Inc. (RHOA) and his attorney, John A. Hudson of John A. Hudson Attorney at Law, LLC, give notice of Mr. Emory's resignation as President of the RHOA and of the substitution of Amie Jamieson of Ater Wynne LLP, attorneys at law (see Notice of Addition and Removal of Counsel filed by attorney Jamieson and dated June 7, 2007) as attorney and representative of RHOA. Ellis E. Emory and his attorney move for an order confirming the substitution and confirming the withdrawal of Mr. Emory and his attorney from this case.

This motion and notice is based on the attached Declaration re: Resignation of Emory. Ellis E. Emory has appeared in the above entitled matter as a result of being served with a copy of PUC Order (#06-675) dated December 19, 2006, and as representative of the RHOA. The PUC Staff and their attorney, Jason Jones, Assistant Attorney General, Department of Justice, have since stated that the Order was served on Mr. Emory only in his representative capacity as President of the RHOA, and he is not named in his personal capacity.

Mr. Emory resigned as President of the RHOA effective June 1, 2007 (see copy attached to the Declaration re: Resignation of Emory), and he is no longer an officer or director of RHOA. RHOA is now represented by Amie Jamieson, of Ater Wynne LLP, attorneys at law (see Notice of Addition and Removal of Counsel filed by attorney Jamieson and dated June 7, 2007).

Accordingly, Mr. Emory and his attorney, John A. Hudson of John A. Hudson Attorney at Law, LLC, who appeared to assist Mr. Emory in his representative capacity as President of RHOA, and also personally to the extent the Order of December 19, 2006, was intended to apply to him personally. Mr. Emory is not otherwise an intervener or interested party.

Respectfully submitted this 15th day of June, 2007.
